

As a new Amature Radio Operator, and a menmer of several public service orginazations ( All on Donated Time. ) Communications is very important. especially in the times of emergency. BPL is unproven when it comes to non interference, and test are showing that it will cause problems for both public and private radio operators. If we as amatures were to cause such interference we would be held responsible for it. Will the smae be done for BPL Providers. I hope so!! But doubt it cause money talks. Thanks for your consideration in this matter. Steve
