

I am quite concerned about the likely interference caused by broadband data transmission over power lines (BPL) to the service provided by amateur radio operators throughout the US and world. Just last month a local ham assisted in a life saving effort which may not have been possible with the expected interference of BPL. Please deny this commercial profit making activity that threatens ham service.