

Yes, the FCC needs to take a more hardline approach to the digital TV transition. Most importantly applying the same rules covering must carry and basic cable to digital television. How is the FCC keeping with the long held belief that broadcast television serves the public interest when you allow cable companies to set a seperate tier for digital television. Is it the FCC's intent to no longer require broadcast television be part of basic cable? Then why is the FCC silent while cable companies across the country are requiring a subscription to digital cable plus and additional fee to receive local broadcast digital television? DON'T CONFUSE MAKING COMPANIES HAPPY WITH WHAT NEEDS TO BE DONE. DO YOUR JOB AND STOP FEES FOR LOCAL BROADCAST. DO YOUR JOB AND STOP BUY THROUGH REQUIREMENTS TO RECEIVE DIGITAL BROADCAST SIGNALS OVER CABLE. DO YOUR JOB AS CONGRESS AS OUTLINED. REGULATE BROADCAST TELEVISION AS A PUBLIC SERVICE NOT A CASH COW FOR BUSINESS.
