

The technological achievement for BPL is minimal. The technological challenge to co-exist with it in the HF spectrum for radio amateurs will be great. This is likened to doubling road capacity in this country by building over-passes over every road in the country. Not much technological gain, just aggravation.