

Broadband over Power Line is a bad idea because as we have seen in other countries like Japan it will create problems for too many groups and wont really benefit anyone. This technology is simply not ready to be widely deployed.