

While BPL access is a worthy goal, studies and tests completed thus far indicate interference in the frequencies used will be unacceptable. An alternative would be to change the BPL frequencies if that is feasible but at this time, the negative aspects of BPL far outweigh the positive. I urge you to defer authorization until the interference problem can be solved.

T Esch