Dear Sir or Madam:

Referencing your search for comments on Proceedings 03-104, i.e. Broadband PowerLine transmission:

I say full speed ahead, the interference “problem” is largely imagined since the applicable current is minimal as compared to the power line normal carry and the competition is desperately needed. The customer accommodation of a single billing with electrical consumption is great.

I have seen the quotes for broadband double and triple in a short period. Since many browser programs are geared for broadband, music, and even TV, why not get the price down to where retirees can afford it. Competition is the key, perhaps even a sliding fee schedule- the sky is the limit in benefits...

Sincerely,

Brian Flood
