

There is much experimental evidence that Broadband Over Power line transmissions produce intolerable interference to existing radio services such as aircraft communications, military, shortwave, emergency and amateur radio.