

From the evidence I have seen so far, and based on other countries' experience with BPL, it appears that BPL will pose a significant interference threat to high frequency radio communications. Although I am a licensed amateur radio operator, and am concerned about disruption of the amateur radio service by BPL, my major concern is that if BPL is implemented, the resulting interference will deny the public access to alternative news and entertainment sources via shortwave broadcasting.

Alan Johnson
N4LUS