

Please let power lines remain just that and leave broadband Internet to the cable television and telephone companies whose technologies best support it.