

after purchasing a cell phone It use for emergencies I now find myself with a useless item that can only be used when I travel 20 or more miles from where I was staying while on vacation these people lived in a rural area. after contacting AT&T wireless numerous times they informed me they would not build a new tower just so that people could get service I thought this was a very rude and uncalled for response