

More unlicensed spectrum should be available for the public good, particularly for education and non-profit use. The incumbents and those with significant financial leverage should not be able to control this significant resource.

Mary McLaughlin.