

http://www.sensservice.com/December_03_2003_PR.htm

Since the commercial launch of the simplex data services in mid-August 2003, more than 30 companies are now actively building the transmitter (STU) into their products. As stated by Peter Lagergren, CTO of Xtero Datacom, Inc., a Globalstar value added reseller, "The price point is attractive and the system hassle-factor is zero once you get your design done. This system has the chance to revolutionize the collection of field data like we always imagined."