

I feel that BPL is an extraordinarily bad idea. There are several other technologies that work very well and do not have the interference potential of BPL. I understand the benefits of such a system and that there are dollars to be made, but I wish you would think carefully about this before proceeding.