

BPL is the most ill advised, grossly under engineered concept the FCC has ever considered. It has no place in a wireless world where its radiation WILL create interference problems for many different services. With fiber optics proliferating our country there is no rational reason to put this in place. KILL IT NOW!