

While I understand that BPL would allow those in rural areas with few other choices to access high-speed internet, I do feel that the potential for interference with other radio signals is quite high at this time. Unless this interference can be reduced to an acceptable level, then I am against BPL.