

Stop the forceful tactics used against radio stations and other forms of media outlets. Decency cannot be defined by government but only by individuals who have the power to switch stations. The FCC is an outdated bureaucracy whose funding should be cut. The FCC should only be allowed to regulate media companies' business tactics not their content.