

I am in support of the ARRL reasoned position in the matter. I am in the emergency communications arena and know of the problems of even "slight" interference in critical communications. I ask that you please realize that interference mitigation for mobile stations is impractical. Protecting licensed services is most critical.

Thank You