

I am opposed to Broadband Over Power Line. My local power company, AEP, can't even resolve simple interference issues regarding arcing insulators, why would one expect anything different from BPL.