

I agree, "Power lines were designed to transmit energy," not broadband signals" what is it going to take a national disaster for you people to see that the Ham radio group is a very needed community in times of crisis, and this will wipe us out total. I would think that just looking at the local disasters you would see that the Ham community is a vital part of search and rescue. Look at what we did during 911, OPEN YOUR EYES stop the stupid politics.
