

BPL (Braoadband Over Powerlines) is a GUARANTEED form of ENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION. BPL will radiate to licensed users, and they will have no recourse but to sue to alleviate their injury. Unfortunately, many users will not discover their injury until their licensed service is rendered useless. BPL will cause broadband "white noise" which is difficult to trace.....the licensed services will find that radio communications is no longer practicable. This will lead to the United States becoming a "third world" country in term of its practical application of modern technology in the high frequency regime. Instead of increasing available bandwidth for digital communication, the United States will become the first society to have "jammed" itself into COMMUNICATIONS OBLIVION!.

Other technologically advanced countries, such as Japan and Austria, have conducted SCIENTIFIC investigations of Broadband over Powerlines.....and come to the conclusion that IT DOES NOT WORK!. Why should the United States, without a scientific investigation, gamble its technological future on the "wistful hope" that it might provide "Broadband Nirvana" (Commissioner Abernethy's conclusion.....not shared by any objective observer).

BPL is not sound as a means to INCREASE the availability of the Internet to the United States citizenry. It will DECREASE utility of recognized and licensed services to preserving the public convenience and necessity. BPL is a fraudulent technology which should be relegated to the trash-heap of technological history.
