

Please be aware of the fact that BOPL is regarded as harmful interference to the Amateur Radio Service as well as GMRS and other important radio communications. It goes without question the importance and need for Amateur Radio during disasters, emergencies, and other events and situations. It truly would be a shame to these important needs abandoned for someone to have an alternate form of internet service, especially with so many modes already offered. Power lines were designed and made to carry AC current not RF and for years Utility Companies were fined for harmful interference. BOPL should be regarded as what it is (harmful interference) and abandoned.
