

In over sixty years as a licensed amateur radio operator I have learned that even very low power signals can radiate for thousands of miles. BPL interference would not be just a local problem.