

I as well as others are very concerned about BPL destroying our ability to listen to the radio signals. Listening has been a hobby since childhood with a small radio my father has sent to me from overseas. I would lay in bed at night trying to pick up far away stations. I spent four years in the USN as a RadioMan and now have numerous radios that I spend time with. I now have my (14) year old daughter involved with listening and we certainly enjoy the time together.
