

I am compelled to send a comment about BPL's interference capability to other radio services. I find it hard to believe that the FCC can seriously consider allowing BPL or any other technology that will cause interference to other services and hide behind the fact that "It is already allowed under part 15 of FCC rules" or any other such technicalities. I don't think a few isolated trials in areas will show the true interference capabilities this will have on a large national scale. Please consider all the implications this will have on others and not just big business and large profits to be made for special interest groups.

Thank You for taking the time to read my comment Carl Sigmon.
