

I wish to protest any implementation of BPL. This technology will cause a great deal of RF interference to amateur operators and others, and will not be an efficient method of broadband Internet connectivity. Because of the need for so many signal boosters, a great deal of upgrades to the power line infrastructure will be necessary.