

Please put the brakes on "broadband over power lines." While it sounds like a nice concept, the RF interference issues are terminally crippling. BPL will interfere with too many other valuable communications tools, as radio and other devices.