

The concept behind BPL is exciting and beneficial, but the costs are simply too high. Other technologies are already in place that can service most communities. Don't spread radio interference around the world for the benefit of a few.