

Community development values unlicensed RF spectrum and to develop community wireless networking, this spectrum must be protected and free.

High and low power transmissions over this unlicensed spectrum should be free to the public and a requirement for professional installation and use of identity beacons do not add value to this resource.