

I believe the spectrum in question should be allocated for unlicensed use. It is clear from a technological point of view that giving away or selling spectrum is an inefficient use of public resources.

Let technological innovation find the most appropriate use for public spectrum rather than backroom deals cut in DC.